AFADIMA

Our project consists of creating a website in which our users can register as a standard customer or as a numerary, in the case of numerary, the customer must fill out a form. Once registered, customers can read the news uploaded by our employees. If you are an employee you will only be able to log in but not create an account and once inside you will be able to modify and change the news.

Our goal is that with this website is that afadima users can find out before the news and thus be more informed.

When you enter the web site you should see this:

No need to install anything.

this is the website of afadima from which we have taken our inspiration:
